Class History

Now that we are at the end of our twelve year school career, let's reminisce through the past years back to the late summer of '46. Right now most of us were counting the days with anticipation until our debut as a student. After the days, which seemed like years, passed, the bright fall morning arrived. Can't you remember your first entrance in the first grade? Through the guidance of Mrs. Mentzer and Mrs. Warner, we soon became adjusted to the school routine. Now we were down to the project of learning to read and write, interspersed with much play. As the year comes to an end, we were all apprehensive as to whether we'd pass or remain in the first grade. All tolled up though—19 of our graduating class were promoted to the second grade.

Now for our next climb in our school career, we started our second year. This year we felt important and like big shots compared to the little first-graders finding their way through the halls. This year we were doing more difficult number problems, along with reading harder books. But with our teachers', Miss Mentzer and Mrs. Laughlin, good explanations of the new work, things weren't so bad after all.

After passing another summer we returned to school for our third time. This year Harvey Hartley, our future class president, became the 20th member of our present class. This year we were all in one room under the direction of Mrs. Haney. We were introduced to multiplying and dividing, along with English and geography.

In fourth grade we were greeted by Richard Evans and Ed Arkwright. Some of us had Miss Lehman, while others had Mrs. Wetter for our teacher. This year was highlighted by our boys playing basketball at noon. The glorious event was the time we beat the fifth grade.

As we entered the fifth grade, some of us were in Mrs. Griffiths' room, while others of us were sent upstairs to Mr. Steiner's room. It was this year that Tom Wince joined our class.

Our last step preceding Junior High was the sixth grade. Again we were separated, some of us went to Mrs. Brady's class, others to Mr. Steiner's. Leonard Hiney, our science whiz, joined our class this year. It was in the spring of this year, construction on the new building started.

The next fall we entered the seventh grade. This too was a big adjustment—going to a different room and having a different teacher for every subject. It was very amusing to sit in study hall and watch the upperclassmen study and "goof off." This year the boys were introduced to shop, while the girls had a course in home economics. Remember our sponsor, Mr. Himes, and the thrill of our first class picnic at the end of that year? Another highlight during the seventh grade was our science class under the direction of Mr. Nespeca. Remember the bird hikes?

Our next year of Junior High was our last step before high school. This year Mae Peterson and Sandy Riffle joined our class. Mrs. Erich and Mrs. Burge were our sponsors. It was this year that our Junior High basketball team won the county championship. At the end of this year, we took the long-dreaded eighth grade test, but we all managed to pass on to the ninth grade.

As Freshmen, again we had the study hall as our home room under the direction of Mr. Kuhlman. After our initiation, we became accustomed to our new studies and were introduced to many new extra-curricular activities, such as the chorus, band, and athletics. At the end of the year we again had a picnic.

One of the first events of our Sophomore year was the magazine drive. This was a great success for over $1,000 was taken in. Mrs. Perry also helped us in our other activities, along with the Sophomore play at the Community Institute. This year most of us joined the Hi-Y and Tri-Hi-Y.

Our next year as Juniors was a very busy one. Much time was spent in activities to boost our treasury. We sold candy at noon, and at the basketball games. We also sponsored the Junior-Senior Banquet. Then too we put on the play "Professor, How Could You?" under the direction of Mr. Kuhlman. Fortunately our sponsor, Mr. Fabilli, was very helpful to us during this busy year. Linda Gray joined our class this year.

In the fall of '57 we entered the halls of North Lima to begin our last year of our twelve year climb. With Mr. Ward as our sponsor and class officers, Harvey Hartley, Dave Lawless, Sandy Riffle, and Dennis Ackerman, we concluded our fund raising activities with the play, record hops, and the steak supper. We also were in charge of the publications. All of us were in some activities, clubs or athletics.

There were many more important events, too numerous to name. We've had many experiences throughout these twelve years, which will always be remembered. Yes, these twelve years, along with their joys, sorrows, and friendships, will be cherished forever.

Class Prophecy

May 26, 1983, found all the members of the North Lima graduating class of '58 assembled in commemoration of our graduation. Since we hadn't seen each other for 25 years, we soon noticed that faces had changed considerably, and even a few gray hairs had crept in. The place of our reunion was the fieldhouse of the new $2,000,000 North Lima School, heated and lighted by atomic power. This new school was located in a residential area west of the original North Lima.

As I entered this fantastic building, the person I first met was BYRON EICHORN, the executive head of the North Lima School. He told me there were over 3,000 students in his school system. As I walked into the main part of the fieldhouse, the next two people I met were JUDY COOLEY and SANDRA MacFARLAND. It was here I learned that Sandra had won a $5,000 prize in a baking contest, while Judy was head of the dietetics at Ohio State University. Then joining our conversation on food was MYRN WEHR and DON BEARD. They told us how one could grow strawberries as big as oranges on the moon. Overhearing our conversation on farming on the moon, LEONARD HINEY, TOM WINCE, and ED ARKWRIGHT joined our group. Leonard, chief engineer of space and moon travel, told us about their last trip to the moon and the difficulties involved in space travel. Edward and Tom told us about their work as contractors and building rocket stations, and missile bases on this new land.

As I walked on, the next persons I met were RACHEL CULP, an English teacher; and DENNIS ACKERMAN, head coach of North Lima basketball team, showing a huge trophy that his team had just won for state championship. Joining us was ARDELL COOK, head of the social studies at North Lima High School. Along with Ardell was BARBARA SCHNEIDER and PAT DAY, elementary teachers also teaching in the North Lima School. Connected with the school system in an indirect way was LINDA GRAY. She is head librarian in the Mahoning County Library System.

Also speaking of food, BOB SZEWC, now owner of his own food stores, was telling us that soon a Szewc supermarket was to be built on the moon.

The next two people I met were SANDY RIFFLE and LAURA MARTIN discussing nursing. Being a nurse myself, I was very interested in their conversation. Because of the epidemic of moon fever Laura had just completed giving the "Green Cheese Test" to every student in the Mahoning County Schools. Sandy was head of the Physical Therapists at the Mayo Clinic.

Moving along, I next came to HARVEY HARTLEY and DAVE LAWLESS. Being the co-engineers of the expressways to be built in North Lima, their conversation interested me greatly. Also coming to hear the conversation were GARY HOUCK and RICH EVANS. I soon learned that Gary was owner of a professional basketball team in Youngsville, while Rich was star player of his team.

As I walked on, I came to MAE PETERSON and MARY ENNEY. Mae was telling of her work as an interior decorator, while Mary told us of her experience as a model. Looking around I saw JUNE MOREY and CAROLYN WEISENBERGER. June said that she was owner of a dress designing company in New York, while Carolyn was her head secretary.

Just as we were assembling to eat, I overheard a conversation which sounded rather complicated. Seeing that is was DANIEL STEINER and JACK ROY I understood why. Daniel was now a prominent Theologian, and Jack was a famous philosopher.

As I look back now, and remember that often our teachers were disgusted with us and probably wondered if we would ever succeed, I felt quite proud of the achievements and accomplishments of the class of '58.

Professor, How Could You!

A young college professor has trouble getting a job because he isn't married. Three prospects are girls very eager to marry, Priscilla, Tootsie, and Valerie. Grandma Perry, Boggins, and Butcher-boy are all supporting Tootsie Bean, while John Appleby is supporting Priscilla Morley. Vickey Randolph is backing Valerie Whitman. Secretly Grandpa is backing Vicky. It seems that Grandpa is just an innocent bystander but seems to know just what is going to happen, so he starts collecting bets on the girl that wins. In the end Professor Perry surprises everyone by marrying Vicky Randolph and Grandpa wins the bet. John marries Priscilla and Boggins takes Tootsie on a honeymoon trip to Niagara Falls, and Valerie decides to wait and find some rich, handsome man from Texas.

A Little Honey

Mrs. Minton was one of those souls who taught her daughter how to interest the men: by being able to talk about sports, carburetors, and the stock market. Diana tried it but didn't succeed. Tom was back and coming to see Diana. Grandma steps in and tells Diana you can't catch a man with sandpaper, you need a "little honey!" Tom is ready to pop the question when in comes Jerry and Albert. The whole house is in an uproar! Delores is on the rampage, Mrs. Tyler throws her income-tax problems in Mrs. Minton's lap, Grandma is mad at the nurse who has been hired to see that she watches her diet, Scoots is more devilish now than before. Now Diana decides to try her own method of catching a man and in her very own way gets Tom to propose.

Basketball Team

This year, the North Lima Basketball Team had only two Seniors on its squad. The majority of the team was made up of Juniors and Sophomores. The Juniors supported some fine ball handlers and excellent shooters; and there were two sophomores on the team, both being terrific rebounders and shots. The group, although inexperienced, tried hard to win, and never gave up until the last second. The team sported two Seniors, Dennis Ackerman, and Myron Wehr, one being a "dead-eye" in shooting, and the latter being a good floor man. The services of these boys will be greatly missed next year. The team,with their will to win, have earned some recognition. Under Coach Dick Williams, the boys ended up with a 2 win and 16 lost season. In a couple of years, North Lima's basketball fans can certainly look forward to a great team from these boys.

Harvey Hartley was chosen for the second time for all-Inter-County lineman, and Gary Houck was chosen for the first time for the Inter-County team. Of these, Harvey Hartley, and Gary Houck are Seniors and will be missed greatly by the spectators and the other teammates. Harvey Hartley was chosen most valuable lineman for 2 years as well as the most improved lineman of 1956. Gary Houck was voted by the team to be the most valuable back for 1956-57, and Dick Dillon chosen most valuable back 1956-57. Bob McClain, only a sophomore and playing Varsity Football for his second season was chosen the most improved lineman for 1957. The team under the fine coachmanship of Mr. Pierson should be congratulated for the fine job they have done during the past season. The North Lima Reserve Football Team played three games and came out with an 0 win—3 loss record.

Al,
A real swell guy. Remember all the fun we had dancing (especially when you were teaching me how to jitterbug. I will always remember the fun and laughs we had during period. North Kenna will never be the same after you graduate. Good luck to Patty, the girl that takes her heart to you.
Best wishes in the last years of school.
